

Journal Reflection

Students are encouraged to self-assess as part of their journal entry.

4	3	2	1
Content
My reflection is really engaging. It thoroughly explores the prompt questions and expectations of the assignment. I examine answers to questions from a variety of points of view. I answer all questions thoroughly with description, examples and explanation. I explore issues in depth.	My reflection is good. I explore most aspects to the prompt questions and expectations of the assignment. I examine answers to questions from mainly one point of view. I answer all questions fairly well with some description, examples and explanation. I could definitely add more depth.	My reflection is okay. I explore some of the questions and expectations of the assignment, but not all. I just provide a brief response, with little depth. I may provide a surface level explanation with no examples or description. I need to do more work reflecting.	I did not reflect or what was shared did not address any of the prompts. Incomplete reflection.
Connection
My writing is very engaging with many insightful connections to the prompt. I ask good questions and describe interesting ideas that encourage others to consider what I have written.	My writing is fairly engaging with a couple connections to the prompt. Although it is a little vague and could use more explanation. I think about audience, and write a journal reflection that shows a deeper understanding.	My writing is a bit general with only 1 or 2 connections to the prompt. The connections are vague and could use more explanation. I need to consider my audience more when I write.	Journal is incomplete or the connections are not at all related to the prompt.
Voice
My writing shows my personality and reflects a deep commitment to the topic of the question in the reflection.	My writing shows that I care about the topic of the question in my reflection.	My writing sometimes shows that I care about the topic of the question in my reflection.	Lacks voice or very flat and mechanical.
Writing
My writing style is interesting and appropriate for my readers. I have no errors in grammar, spelling, punctuation, capitalization, or sentences.	I write so my readers can understand. Any errors in conventions do not take away from what I am saying.	I try to write so my readers can understand, but sometimes my writing does not make sense because of errors in conventions.	Incomplete blog
Interactive Features
I include additional features, such as graphics, photos, and links, to enhance what I am saying and to captivate my readers.	I include blog features, such as graphics, photos, and links.	I include some blog features, such as graphics, photos, and links, but sometimes they take away from the purpose of my reflection.	I do not include any extra blog features, because I have not completed my reflection.

Self Evaluation Areas I am strong... Areas I can improve.... How will I improve for next time...	Peer Evaluation I really like.... I think you could improve if you...
---	---